Dear Chancellor Corro:

The Conference continues to provide a platform to effectively harness teaching and research for extension and public service, a venue for scholarly discussion on best practices and areas for improvement, and an opportunity to share and document innovative initiatives by higher education institutions. We are cordially inviting you and your faculty members to take part in this endeavor by submitting and presenting papers or by attending the conference. The registration fee of PhP 2,500.00 is inclusive of kits, certificates, and meals (lunch and snacks) for two days but exclusive of transportation, accommodation, breakfast, and dinner. Attached is the call for papers, for your reference.

May I also request that you kindly disseminate the call for papers and the endorsement of the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) within your networks?
